

Rectangular token

Chinese Collection

|                      |                                                                                             |
|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Accession Nr.:       | 2008.21.4  |
| Type:                | toys and models; pottery                                                                    |
| Date of production:  | Late 19th centuryQing dynasty                                                           |
| Place of production: | Dehua, Fujian province, China                                                               |
| Materials:           | porcelain                                                                                   |
| Techniques:          | underglaze blue                                                                             |
| Dimensions:          | height: 2 cmwidth: 2 cmdepth: 0.4 cm                                                |

The rectangular token is made of moulded porcelain. The inscription of the token – including the name of the gambling house – contain word that brings good luck or convey a good wish.

