As a representative state gift of Indonesian President Suharto (1921 - 2008) to Árpád Göncz (1922 - 2015), President of the Republic of Hungary, this kris (Indonesian: keris) is a wavy-edged, spectacularly damascened, richly decorated artwork. Its handle depicts a typically Balinese motif, the hero Bima, or his father the wind god (Batara Bayu), while the guard features a mythological scene carved from ivory. Lavishly decorated with semiprecious stones and gold plates, the scabbard and its contents are protected from damage by a red-coloured, lined case bearing the coat of arms of Indonesia and the names and titles of the donor and recipient heads of state.
