

Krishna

India / South Asia Collection

|                      |                                                                                            |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Accession Nr.:       | 58.364.1  |
| Type:                | bronze, lead, gold and silver; statuette                                                   |
| Date of production:  | 19th c.                                                                                    |
| Place of production: | India                                                                                      |
| Materials:           | bronze                                                                                     |
| Techniques:          | cast                                                                                       |
| Dimensions:          | height: 14.6 cmwidth: 7 cm                                                             |

Flute-playing Krishna. South Indian bronze sculpture. Probably a 19th century copy of an earlier type. The flute is missing. In his two back hands are Vishnu's insignia, the discus and the conch horn (chakra and shankha).

