Wooden knocker ("wooden fish") with engraved pattern for church service, with carved wooden base, textile braid. The object in question is part of a Vietnamese temple bell ensemble, the parts of which run in the collection under the following inventory numbers: 2015.60.1.1, 2015.60.1.2, 2015.62.1-2, 2015.62.1.3. The holes in the sides of the so-called wooden fish are essential for the creation of the corresponding sounds. The object in question is one of the most important rhythm instruments in Buddhist rituals and recitations.
